

'Manufacturing sector, the lowest paid in India'

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, July 18

Despite the government's concentrated efforts towards making India a manufacturing hub, the median hourly salary in the manufacturing sector decreased by 16 per cent, from ₹251.9 in 2014 to ₹252.1 in 2015 and ₹211.7 in 2016, a report said on Tuesday. "The rate at which the salaries in the sector are dipping could pose a challenge to attract new talent entering the marketplace," the Monster Salary Index (MSI) for 2016 stated.

The findings of the report indicate that manufacturing is the lowest paid sector with a median gross hourly salary of ₹211.7. The report highlights that employees in the manufacturing sector with only secondary education earn ₹101.4, which is 62.6 per cent less than post-graduates at ₹270.8. The male employees in the sector earn ₹256.6 on an average and female employees earn ₹179.8, constituting a 29.9 per cent gender pay gap. The highest median gross hourly salary has been observed in the banking, financial services and insurance (BFSI) sector at ₹433 in 2016, followed by IT at ₹386.8 and healthcare, caring services and social work sector at ₹242.5. The median gross hourly salaries in education sector stood at ₹204.1. "In India, the manufacturing output contributes about 16 per cent to the overall Gross Domestic Product (GDP) and employs nearly 12-13 per cent of the labour force.
